So many homeless people, I know nyc is worse but still. And a giant mall upstairs with people walking around wearing suits. They all seemed happier than me tho so not that I have to worry about anything. I alone can't really change whole situation.

I recently found myself scared of death, maybe not death itself, maybe I'm just scared of something else.

I miss you, ma'am.

It's the self-proclaimed magician again, what is he gonna do?

Hohoho, this is a SPELL that grants you eternal happiness.
