Went to office hour this morning to review my final and the professor legit raised my letter grade by 1 because I was there lol. He was like you deserve better man, then proceeded to change my grade by an arbitrary number so my letter grade would be higher XD. Had a meeting with my PI this afternoon and he told me he would bring me to an astronomical society conference to give a talk around April, so today me happy.

Almost missed the LIRR tho, had to run like oogie boogie is chasing me.
