

November 11th 2025, 4:08 AM

---

Em1, quantum, cosmology, and AST443 all in one semester is indeed very depressing. Especially quantum, my dumb ahhh brain can't really handle all the formulas bruh, and no cheat sheet allowed for final, I'm cooked fr. Only three weeks away from now too, I mean I did fine on the midterm, but I really need to do well on the final to get an A or A-. Might need to start worshiping physics Jesus to save me on the day of the final. We are starting next book too, that means I have a month to finish reading a book and preparing for HUR235 and Em1 final, three weeks to prepare for quantum mechanics final. Around two weeks to finish AST443 Lab3 report and the presentation, PHY390 final paper(~10 pages), and cosmology final project(I still haven't started yet). And no, it's not like I have a month + 5 weeks, it means I have to finish all in a month from now.

Shits unreal, I mean I kinda did this to myself cuz I could've taken fewer credits.

I really really really need to lock in rn(crying emoji).