

February 13th 2026, 3:31 AM

---

Death, the complete silence. I really wish I could've been less scared of pain three years ago, so the world would be quieter.

Need to take med after this so I can get some sleep in tonight, still have to attend an office hour tomorrow.

I probably shouldn't be asking for anything right now, but god or whatever it is, I'm donating 20 years of my remaining lifespan + 100k to charity, I want to see a new playlist.