Someone in my class got into an argument with the professor for 10mins straight lol, I was really looking forward to a fistfight but ig we are living in a civilized society. Bruh was like professor you are wrong, and the professor was no I'm not wrong, I was trying so hard not to laugh lol. I know both of them tho so no hate.

I also got 1.3k total for Lunar New Year just for existing, it's actually insane that I get about 1k on average every New Year, plus 4k from my summer internship (with free housing and a kitchen). And I'm only paying 3k per semester (including dorm + dining dollars), so I basically only need to pay 1k to literally live here.

My sister's birthday this saturday, I probably will just zelle her some money. tbh I don't really like birthdays cuz mine are always terrible (well, not last year tho, lunar eclipse was sick, I thought zombies were gonna spawn), but I don't mind celebrating other ppl's birthdays.

About the short film, I'm still in the initial stage, like I know what it will be focusing but I need more details. One I really like is The God Man by Jason Stamatyades, I really really really really like it for some reason, holy fools won't be similar tho.
