Its crazy that im basically doing nothing yet still ahead of my schedule. stipend still hasn't been distributed so I can't really buy anything. well not that I can make anything, I thought I'd be dorming like last year, but since my pi isn't on campus and there aren't any events that require me to be physically present, I can just stay home. The upcoming fall semester, ill definity finish making what i wanted to make. regarding wildfire, drawing it will be hell. theme? everyone knows the night sky is alluring, but why?

I went back to visit some old games recently, neither of them is doing well lol. crusader quest stopped updating but the server is still alive, i still remember how happy i was when i got izuna from the first 10 pull, and spent hundreds of dungeon keys to grind rochefort the legendary warrior. Guardian tales also stopped updating, i hope they keep the server open like crusader quest, season 1 & 2 main story were truly peak.
