

---

Why would it be weird writing to nobody I know no one wants to stay, do ppl know how painful it is to put in everything including my stupid life into something just for it to fade away every single time. Why can't ppl just be honest with me, why do ppl make stupid promises just to get my hopes up and then left me alone, like just get the fuck off already, like, why, every fucking single time, why can't ppl just be honest. do ppl now see why I wanted to die rn, because I can't, I can't make the ppl want to stay, I learned that since I was a kid, and there's nothing I can do to change it. Do you know what will make me super super happy, tell me that you want me to leave you alone, tell me nothing works forever, tell me that you don't care anymore, you could be the first person to tell me the truth, and that would make me very very very very very very very very very very happy