

---

Normally I'd want to write a lot more often, but I really need to lock in now. There are only like two months left for me to get every application and all the subsequent materials in on time, and there's still some time. Wish me luck. idk but last year feels like yesterday for some reason, time went so fast.