Only if i could post the class evaluations here lol, some of the comments are actually insane, but that would be kinda weird idk. ok just this one, ill delete the names and since all comments are anonymous idk who wrote this, 'It taught me patience, anger management, how to deal with stubborn professors, etc. Thanks xxx! It also taught me how to NOT do physics by giving me lots of examples of atrociously done physics.'

I also had a very nice dream two days ago, but describing my dream is like describing a dog to someone who's never seen one before and then asking them to draw it.

I have been thinking about this lately, chicken first or egg first, isn't it similar to parents first or their kids first.
